01 January, 2025

I am a dedicated Full Stack Developer with a strong background in both frontend and backend technologies, combined with over two years of hands-on project management experience. My professional journey has involved leading the development and successful delivery of a wide range of web and mobile applications, including SaaS platforms and fully customized websites.

My technical expertise spans across technologies such as Vue.js, React, HTML5, CSS3, JavaScript, Laravel, Node.js, FastAPI, MySQL, and MongoDB. I have also worked with RESTful APIs and cloud platforms like AWS and Firebase, which has enabled me to build secure, scalable, and high-performing digital solutions tailored to business needs.

In parallel with development, I have managed cross-functional teams, coordinated timelines, and overseen the complete project lifecycle—from requirement gathering to deployment.

Notable achievements include:

- Successfully launching multiple SaaS applications with user-focused features and robust backend logic.
- Leading the design and development of mobile applications deployed across both iOS and Android platforms.
- Managing and delivering numerous responsive and SEO-optimized websites for clients in diverse industries.

I am passionate about building impactful digital products, solving real-world problems through technology, and driving innovation in every project I undertake. I look forward to opportunities where I can contribute both as a skilled developer and a strategic project manager.

Thank you for your time and consideration.

Sincerely,

Asad Ul Haq
